FATHER SAFREED’S REFLECTIONS

The present Ecclesial crisis has prompted the faithful to ask questions such as: “Where are we going to get the next true Pope?” “Has God forgotten us?” “Will He ever restore the Church to its once former glory?” They are legitimate questions, and it is important to know that there are answers to these queries, but the answers may not satisfy everyone. We are on uncharted territory, and people may disagree in understanding the situation and how to solve the problem, which is very distressing.

With regard to the “Pope question” Fr. Anthony Cekada, God rest his soul, wrote the following:

“If the post-Vatican II popes are not true popes, how might the Church one day get a true pope again? Here are some theories:

- [1] Direct Divine intervention. This scenario is found in the writings of some approved mystics.
- [2] The Material/Formal Thesis. This holds that should a post-Vatican II pope publicly renounce the heresies of the post-Conciliar church he would automatically become a true pope. [Bishop Donald Sanborn and his priests adhere to this opinion]
- [3] An imperfect General Council. The theologian Cajetan (1469-1534) and others teach that should the College of Cardinals become extinct, the right to elect a pope would devolve to the clergy of Rome, and then to the universal Church.”

Each of these seems to present some difficulties. But this should not be surprising, because the precise solution to an unusual problem in the Church cannot always be predicted beforehand. This can be seen from the following comment in the 1913 Catholic Encyclopedia: “No canonical provisions exist regulating the authority of the College of Cardinals — in the case the pope became insane, or personally a heretic; in such cases it would be necessary to consult the dictates of right reason and the teachings of history.”

Some private revelations, which we are not bound to accept, even speak of Sts. Peter and Paul returning to Earth to choose the pope themselves. No one could contest that election! Some even believe that there will not be a true pope ever again — everything would be restored, in some manner, only at the Second Coming of Christ.

In my opinion, and in the opinion of other respected individuals, we look to two Biblical and theological concepts for insight into the reality we are living through today. They are the ideas of the “Church in eclipse,” and the Church undergoing its “Mystical Passion.” We will explore these ideas in the next few weeks of my Reflections.

*If you are new to the chapel, Welcome.
New parishioners please consult Father Safreed before the reception of sacraments.*

Remember, also, Lord, Your servants and handmaids below who are gone hence before us, marked with the sign of faith, and sleep the sleep of peace. To them, Lord and to all that rest in Christ, grant, we implore You a place of happiness, light and peace through the same Christ our Lord. Amen.
