Fourth Sunday After Easter

GOSPEL John 16:5-14 At that time, Jesus said to His disciples: "I go to Him that sent Me, and none of you asks Me: 'Whither goest thou?' But because I have spoken these things to you, sorrow has filled your heart. But I tell you the truth: it is expedient to you that I go. For if I go not, the Paraclete will not come to you: but if I go, I will send Him to you.

And when He comes, He will convince the world of sin and of justice and of judgment. Of sin: because they believed not in Me. And of justice: because I go to the Father: and you shall see Me no longer. And of judgment: because the Prince of this world is already judged. "I have yet many things to say to you: but you cannot bear them now. But when He, the Spirit of truth, is come, He will teach you all truth. For He shall not speak of Himself: but what things so ever He shall hear, He shall speak. And the things that are to come, He shall show you. He shall glorify Me: because He shall receive of what is Mine and declare it to you."

Saint Robert Bellarmine, S.J. ~ Bishop, Confessor and Doctor of the Church

Roberto Francesco Romolo Bellarmino – (4 October 1542 – 17 September 1621) He was born at Montepulciano, the son of noble, albeit impoverished, parents, Vincenzo Bellarmino and his wife Cinzia Cervini, who was the sister of Pope Marcellus II. As a boy he knew Virgil by heart and composed a number of poems in Italian and Latin. One of his hymns, on Mary Magdalene, is included in the Roman Breviary.

He entered the Roman Jesuit novitiate in 1560, remaining in Rome three years. He then went to a Jesuit house at Mondovì, where he learned Greek. While at Mondovì, he came to the attention of Francesco Adorno, the local Jesuit Provincial Superior, who sent him to the University of Padua. In 1569 he was sent to finish his studies at the University of Leuven in Flanders. There he was ordained and obtained a reputation both as a professor and as a preacher. He was the first Jesuit to teach at the university, where the subject of his course was the Summa Theologica of Thomas Aquinas.

In poor health, in 1576 he made a journey to Italy. Here he remained, commissioned by Pope Gregory XIII to lecture on polemical theology in the new Roman College, now known as the Pontifical Gregorian University. Later, he would promote the cause of the beatification of Aloysius Gonzaga, who had been a student at the college during Bellarmine's tenure.

St. Bellarmine was made rector of the Roman College in 1592, examiner of bishops in 1598, and cardinal in 1599. Immediately after his appointment as Cardinal, Pope Clement made him a Cardinal Inquisitor.

Upon the death of Pope Sixtus V in 1590, the Count of Olivares wrote to King Philip III of Spain, "Bellarmine ... would not do for a Pope, for he is mindful only of the interests of the Church and is unresponsive to the reasons of princes." In 1602 he was made archbishop of Capua. As bishop he put into effect the reforming decrees of the Council of Trent. He received some votes in the 1605 conclaves which elected Pope Leo XI, and 37 days later, Pope Paul V, and in 1621 when Pope Gregory XV was elected, but him being a Jesuit stood against him in the judgment of many of the cardinals.

St. Bellarmine's books bear the stamp of their period; the effort for literary elegance (so-called "maraviglia") had given place to a desire to pile up as much material as possible, to embrace the whole field of human knowledge, and incorporate it into theology. His controversial works provoked many replies and were studied for some decades after his death. At Leuven he made extensive studies of the Church Fathers and scholastic theologians, which gave him the material for his book De scriptoribus ecclesiasticis (Rome, 1613). He wrote the preface to the new Sixto-Clementine Vulgate. St. Bellarmine also prepared for posterity his very own commentary on each of the Psalms. An English translation from the Latin was published in 1866.

St. Bellarmine retired to the Jesuit college of St. Andrew in Rome. During his retirement, he wrote several short books intended to help ordinary people in their spiritual life: De ascensione mentis in Deum per scalas rerum creatorum opusculum (The Mind's Ascent to God – 1614) which was translated into English as Jacob's Ladder (1638). The Art of Dying Well (1619) (in Latin, English translation under this title by Edward Coffin) and The Seven Words on the Cross.

St. Bellarmine died on 17 September 1621, aged 78. He was beatified on 13 May 1923, canonized a saint in 1930 and named Doctor of the Church, one of only 36. He was one of the most important figures in the Counter-Reformation.

His feast day is May 13th.

On Mother's Day, Sunday May 12th there will be a second collection in support of Genesis House.

These funds will assist unwed mothers who have chosen to have their babies, not abort them.

Thank you for your donation to this community outreach.

FATHER SAFREED'S REFLECTIONS

FRANCIS CARDINAL SPELLMAN, concluded

From "Vatican II Exposed as Counterfeit Catholicism" by Frs. Francesco and Dominic Radecki, CMRI

[Cardinal] Spellman naively believed that False Religious Liberty was an American concept that should be adopted by the Church even though Pope Pius IX had condemned it 100 years earlier. Unfortunately, the False Religious Liberty promoted at Vatican II did nothing to alleviate those suffering under Communist regimes, but instead, caused all religions to be viewed as vehicles of salvation.

Spellman led American bishops to accept False Religious Liberty, Ecumenism and other Modernist beliefs. The "Declaration on Religious Liberty" altered the course of history and made "Catholic countries" a thing of the past. The loss of faith throughout the world can be linked to the provisions of this declaration.

The Council could have turned out completely differently if Spellman and the other Americans opposed Modernism. After U.S. bishops joined the Modernist camp, a domino effect occurred that encouraged prelates from around the world to blindly accept the doctrinal and liturgical changes set in motion by Vatican II.

LAWRENCE CARDINAL SHEHAN: ARCHBISHOP OF BALTIMORE (1898-1984)

Born in Baltimore, Lawrence Shehan attended St. Mary's Seminary, completed his studies at the Pontifical North American College and Urbaniana University in Rome and was ordained on December 23, 1922. He received his doctorate in Theology in 1923. Shehan was consecrated Auxiliary Bishop of Baltimore-Washington by Amleto Cicognani on December 12, 1945, appointed Bishop of Bridgeport Connecticut in 1953, became Archbishop of Baltimore in 1961, and was made a Cardinal on February 22, 1965.

At Vatican II, he encouraged Council Fathers to ratify documents on Ecumenism and Religious Liberty. Cardinals Shehan and Ritter detested the Latin Mass. Shehan was a member of the Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity, and worked closely with Jewish and Orthodox leaders, established the Baltimore Ecumenical Institute in 1968, and joined [Cardinal] Suenans in delivering the closing speech of Vatican II...

Modernists claimed their teachings were merely a sign of progress and that the decrees, constitutions and declarations of Vatican II would perform a helpful service to humanity. Despite the flowery rhetoric, Modernists used every deceptive, strong arm, manipulative tactic at their disposal to achieve their ends. Although some of their proposals could have some value, their motives were evil: to destroy traditional Catholicism.

DRESS POLICY ~ If this is the first time you have attended the Traditional Latin Mass you may have noticed that our parishioners do not dress casually in the church. Since the changes of Vatican II in the Church, few parishes have had any kind of dress code: we still believe that modesty and appropriate attire are necessary, especially in Church out of reverence for the Most Blessed Sacrament. Please observe these minimum standards of dress for attendance at Church and when attending any functions at the Chapel:

Everyone should refrain from jeans, shorts or T-shirts. Ladies, use a head covering, available in the back of the church for loan or purchase.

Remember, also, Lord, Your servants and handmaids below who are gone hence before us, marked with the sign of faith, and sleep the sleep of peace. To them, Lord and to all that rest in Christ, grant, we implore You a place of happiness, light and peace through the same Christ our Lord. Amen.
