Twelfth Sunday After Pentecost

GOSPEL Luke 10:23-37 At that time, Jesus said to His disciples: "Blessed are the eyes that see the things which you see. For I say to you that many prophets and kings have desired to see the things that you see and have not seen them; and to hear the things that you hear and have not heard them." And behold a certain lawyer stood up, tempting Him and saying, "Master, what must I do to possess eternal life?" But He said to him: "What is written in the law? How do you read?" He answered and said, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with thy whole heart and with thy whole soul and with all thy strength and with all thy mind: and thy neighbor as thyself." And He said to him, "You have answered rightly. Do this and you shall live." But he wishing to justify himself, said to Jesus: "And who is my neighbor?" Jesus answered and said: "A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell among robbers, who also stripped him and having wounded him went away, leaving him half dead. And it chanced, that a certain priest went down the same way: and seeing him, passed by. In like manner also a Levite, when he was near the place and saw him, passed by. But a certain Samaritan, being on his journey, came near him: and seeing him, was moved with compassion: And going up to him, bound up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine: and setting him upon his own beast, brought him to an inn and took care of him. And the next day he took out two denarii and gave them to the innkeeper and said: 'Take care of him; and whatever more you spend, I, on my way back, will repay you.' "Which of these three, in your opinion, was neighbor to him that fell among the robbers?" And he said: "He who took pity on him." And Jesus said to him: "Go and do also in like manner."

The Story of the Solemnity of the Assumption of Mary

The dogma of the Assumption of Mary has its roots in the early centuries of the Church.

The Catholic Church teaches that when Mary ended her earthly life, God assumed her, body and soul into heaven.

This belief traces its roots back to the earliest years of the Church. While a site outside of Jerusalem was recognized as the tomb of Mary, the earliest Christians maintained that "no one was there".

According to St. John of Damascus, in the 5th century, at the Council of Chalcedon in 451, Roman Emperor Marcian requested the body of Mary, Mother of God. St. Juvenal, who was Bishop of Jerusalem replied that "Mary died in the presence of all the Apostles, but that her tomb, when opened upon the request of St. Thomas, was found empty; wherefrom the Apostles concluded that the body was taken up to heaven," the saint recorded.

By the 8th century, around the time of Pope Adrian, the Church began to change its terminology, renaming the feast day of the Memorial of Mary to the Assumption of Mary.

The belief in the Assumption of Mary was a widely held tradition, and a frequent meditation in the writings of saints throughout the centuries. However, it was not defined officially until the past century. In 1950, Pope Pius XII made an infallible, ex-cathedra statement in the Apostolic Constitution Munificentissimus Deus officially defining the dogma of the Assumption.

The pope wrote, "By the authority of our Lord Jesus Christ, of the Blessed Apostles Peter and Paul, and by our own authority, we pronounce, declare, and define it to be a divinely revealed dogma: that the Immaculate Mother of God, the ever-Virgin Mary, having completed the course of her earthly life, was assumed body and soul into heavenly glory."

Thursday, August 15th is the Feast of the Assumption which marks a major feast day and a public holiday in many countries. In most countries, including the United States, it is a Holy Day of Obligation.

DRESS POLICY ~ If this is the first time you have attended the Traditional Latin Mass you may have noticed that our parishioners do not dress casually in the church. Since the changes of Vatican II in the Church, few parishes have had any kind of dress code: we still believe that modesty and appropriate attire are necessary, especially in Church out of reverence for the Most Blessed Sacrament. Please observe these minimum standards of dress for attendance at Church and when attending any functions at the Chapel:

Everyone should refrain from jeans, shorts or T-shirts. Ladies, use a head covering, available in the back of the church for loan or purchase.

FATHER SAFREED'S REFLECTIONS

JOHN XXIII part 13

From "Vatican II Exposed as Counterfeit Catholicism" by Frs. Francisco and Dominic Radecki, CMRI

WHAT REALLY HAPPENED DURING THE 1958 CONCLAVE?

When cardinals reach a two-thirds majority plus one and elect a new pope, ballots are burned in a stove in the Sistine Chapel and a special chimney emits white smoke that announces the election of a new pope to the world. When a consensus is not reached, wet straw is burned with the ballots creating black smoke, indicating that cardinals have not reached a decision.

The smoke usually appears black at first, then turns white later, never vice versa, unless a pope is elected on the first ballot. On the first day of voting, Sunday, October 26, 1958, mysterious things began to happen. Shortly before noon, white smoke emanated from the smokestack. It then turned black, confusing the crowd.

"Time" magazine Vatican correspondent Wilton Wynn describes the confusion that occurred:

On the first day of balloting, there were two false alarms. In the morning, the smoke that billowed out of the pipe of the Sistine Chapel at first looked like white cotton. As emotional Vatican radio announcer screamed, 'Bianco, bianco, bianco, bell bianco!' (White, white, white, beautiful white!') But his enthusiasm waned quickly; the smoke turned gray and then black. The same thing happened in the afternoon.

At 5:55 p.m. nearly 200,000 people saw white smoke billowing from the chimney floor for about five minutes. The assembled masses cheered the election of a new pope. At 6 p.m. Vatican radio announcer Fr. Pelligrino, said, "The smoke is white...there is absolutely no doubt. A Pope has been elected." Everyone looked to the balcony to hear the official announcement and to see the newly elected Holy Father, but no one appeared.

The "Los Angeles Times" recorded "observers became confused over whether the smoke signaling the secret election was white or black."

...the Palatine and Swiss Guards were alerted. The former were summoned from their barracks and ordered to report to St. Peter's Basilica for the announcement of the name of the Holy Father. Thousands gathered beneath the windows of the apostolic palace waiting to receive the blessing of the new pope. But the new pope failed to appear.

*If you are new to the chapel, Welcome.
New parishioners please consult Father Gregory before the reception of sacraments.*

Remember, also, Lord, Your servants and handmaids below who are gone hence before us, marked with the sign of faith, and sleep the sleep of peace. To them, Lord and to all that rest in Christ, grant, we implore You a place of happiness, light and peace through the same Christ our Lord. Amen.
